Equipment Design & Manufacturing

As you might expect from our name, we are knowledge experts on cranes and how they work. What you might not know is that Cranemasters has amassed a wealth of expertise in specialty crane design, fabrication, and rehabilitation.

Our company employs designers and engineers who understand the mechanics and physical characteristics associated with specialized cranes and lifting equipment, and custom attachments.

To learn about specific projects featuring our crane rebuild services or to request an estimate on a project, contact us for more information.

We also design specialty equipment for use by our crews in the field. Highly specialized equipment allows us to improve efficiency, enhance safety and reduce costs compared to standard equipment.
